City Is to Be Sued for $5,000 Damages

Cora Davis of St. Joseph Alleges Faulty Sidewalk Is Cause of Her Suffering Injuries.

Alleging that an obstruction in a sidewalk on East First street caused her to fall and suffer broken bones in her right arm and wrist, Cora Davis of St. Joseph today instigated a $5,000 damage suit in the circuit court against the city.

The plaintiff claims that the sidewalk was negligently constructed so as to leave an obstruction and that on June 25, 1925, she stumbled over the obstruction, the fall causing her injuries.

Rainfall Last Night 3.39 Inches

The weather-man is generous to the Nth degree, especially with the dispensation of his moisture. Last night he made Nodaway County and all of this section of the state, a present of 3.39 inches of rainfall.

Although it was not needed it is said that last night's rain did not hurt the corn any except for washing out in the lowlands. This makes almost seven and a half inches of rainfall here this week.

3 N. Y. Police Hit by Bandit Bullets

New York, Aug. 20.—Three police were wounded, one negro was shot and one captured in a runing gun fight early today between the police and three negro hold-up men. The fight was waged in automobiles after the bandit car had been surrounded by the police.

ALSUP NEW CHURCH HEAD

ELECTED AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH CONVENTION YESTERDAY.

NEXT MEETING SALEM

Mrs. E. F. Hamlin Chosen President Nodaway County Council—Resolutions Committee Reports.

The Rev. T. J. Alsup of Maryville was elected president for the ensuing year at the annual meeting of the Nodaway County Convention of Christian Churches that was held yesterday at Workman's Chapel, northwest of Maryville. The convention decided to hold the next convention at Salem Church, ten miles south of Maryville.

Other officers that were elected yesterday were:

Vice-president, C. E. Hagee, Barnard; secretary, A. L. Nash, Maryville; and treasurer, George Shoptaugh, Elmo.

Mrs. E. F. Hamlin of Maryville was elected president of the Nodaway County Council at the meeting yesterday; Mrs. R. W. Bridges of Barnard was elected vice-president; and Mrs. John G. Mutz was the choice for secretary-treasurer. The other officers will be appointed at a latter date.

Among the recommendations of the resolution committee the employment of a county evangelist for at least part time was urged.

The outstanding features of the program were the address in the morning of J. T. Bloom, evangelist of the seventh district; the sermons of the Rev. R. E. Snodgrass, pastor of the First Christian Church of Maryville; the address of Mrs. R. S. Latshaw of Kansas City on "The Council Idea; and the address of President Fern of the Missouri Christian College at Camden Point.

The committee on plan of work presented the following report:

1. We wish to commend the churches of our county on the splendid cooperative spirit that has characterized the work in recent years, and we believe that the sympathetic and fraternal spirit that now maintains among our churches should be continued and is a constantly growing measure from year to year.

2. Most of our churches in the county are thoroughly committed to a missionary program. We wish to recommend to all the churches of the county that every effort be made to reach the missionary appointments sent out by the joint budget committee and that this present year there be no letting up in the missionary zeal and missionary giving.

3. We further recommend that pastors be secured for our pastorless churches just as soon as possible, as a long pulpit vacancy is detrimental to the best interest of the church. And further, that part time churches in the country try to cooperate with each other in the employment of pastors who will locate in the county.

4. We recommend the continuation of county meetings this year, giving our people in the county an opportunity to get better acquainted, such meetings to be planned and all details worked out by the county board.

5. We recommend the employment of a county evangelist for at least part time, if the county board can possibly work out some plan of financing such a work. Said evangelist to especially look after the interests of our weaker and pastorless churches and promote in every possible way the missionary work in all the churches of the county.

6. Your committee believes that there is a great need in this county of some means of communication between the churches. We feel, that owing to the expense of publishing a county paper, some other means of interchanging reports and church news will have to be found. To meet this need in the county we recommend that the Maryville Democrat-Forum and Tribune be used and that on Tuesday of each week there be published in said paper such reports and news as may be sent in from the churches. And we would urge all our churches and schools to select a reporter who will make regular weekly reports to someone who will be chosen to receive and publish such reports. This plan is to begin September 1.

7. We recommend the creation of a county council at the convention and further recommend that every church in the county organize local councils, thus unifying the work of our Christian women, in each local church and in the county as a whole.

8. We further recommend that the churches of the county continue their support of the educational work of our brotherhood and that they give to Missouri Christian College at Camden Point their continued support in every way possible.

9. We also further recommend that Sunday, August 30, be designated as Snell Memorial Day in the churches of the county and that special offerings be received for the Bina Mae Snell educational fund.

Signed:
O. G. Null,
Rev. R. E. Snodgrass,
C. E. Hagee,
Mrs. Ed F. Hamlin,
Mrs. J. W. Smith,
Truman Young,
Roy Strickler.

Evangelistic services will be conducted each night the rest of this week and all next week in a tent at Workman Chapel. Snodgrass of Maryville, the latter to preach Sunday evening.

Inventor Wards Off Old Age by Electricity

London, Aug. 20.—Since the world has failed to extensively use monkey glands for alleged rejuvenation of old age, an English inventor has come forward with the claim that he is able to rejuvenate the old and ward off old age in the middle-aged by the medium of electricity. He is O. C. Overbeck, an apple-cheeked young man of 66, with a voice like a bull and he claims all of this has been brought about by trying his own invention on himself.

The brain is composed of atoms, according to this inventor in propounding his new theory, and therefore made of electricity. Peaple get run down and old because the electricity has evoporated from their brains, according to Overbeck. Put more electricity into the brain and the patient gets his lost energy back, or at least that is what the inventor says.

HAD TO CALL OFF PARADE

KIDDIES DISAPPOINTED — BUT MUD TOO MUCH TO CONQUER.

SHOW AT 8 TONIGHT

Robbins Brothers Delayed in Reaching Maryville—Leave Here for Albany Via St. Joseph.

Anticipation, which has been growing each day for the last two weeks, finally reached the peak today when the Robbins Brothers circus arrived in the city, but exploded with dreadful disappointment when it was announced about 1 o'clock this afternoon that the circus would be unable to give its parade as advertised.

For the second time this season the Robbins Brothers were forced to cancel their parade, and yesterday at Atchison, Kan., was the first day the show people had to disappoint the hundreds of kiddies, and grown-ups, too, and again today here, who gathered on the Main street of Maryville to see the tigers, long train of elephants, monkeys and dapple grey horses, and the pretty floats, equestriennes, tribe of Indians, and all that goes with a circus parade. The jinx set his claws on the Robbins Brothers circus at Atchison, Kan., yesterday, when a heavy rain delayed the troupe in getting out of there until 5 o'clock this morning, and was awaiting for the trains to arrive in Maryville shortly before 11 o'clock this morning with more than three inches of rain and seas of mud to pull the heavy circus wagons through. Some of the wagons were mired when pulled over to the circus grounds at the fair grounds and the crew had trouble in putting up the main top on account of wet grounds.

If there were one, there were scores and scores of youngsters who got up early this morning to see the circus pull into Maryville and watch it unload, but those who had gathered at the Burlington platform had to wait for hours. The Robbins Brothers were forced to call off their evening program at Atchison, Kan., on account of the rain, which also caused late arrival in Maryville. But when the two sections of the train pulled in here there were hundreds on the platform to watch the precise clock-like system of unloading.

The impression was spread around town shortly after the noon hour that the circus would not give a parade due to the fact the city license was too steep. This is erroneous, as the circus did pay a license to the city and had full intentions of fulfilling the contract—but it was just a problem of "too much mud to conquer."

In spite of the fact that the down pour of Sunday, interspersed by showers in between and a three inch rain last night, which put the roads in a bad way, many put on chains and drove their autos over the sticky, wet highways this morning in order to give the children a treat and take a day off for themselves. The main show did not commence until about a quarter after four and the press agent, Mr. Saul, gave out the information that the evening program would start on the dot of 8 o'clock.

"Imposing, spectacular and sensational" was the opinion of the fair-sized audience this afternoon when it witnessed the opening of a dazzling production entitled "The Arabian Nights" with a tuneful chorus and a real dancing ballet of thirty pretty young women. Miss Montague sang the leading feminine role of the princess while Harry Hall, baritone soloist, appeared as the king.

The big show performance closed with a new historical revue called "America" which depicts the principal events and characters that are famous in American history.

Chinese Bandits Hold U. S. Doctor

Peking, Aug. 20: Harvey Howard, the American physician, who was kidnapped last month, is reported to be in good health and well-treated by the bandits who are holding him for ransom in the bandit camp. Chinese troops have surrounded the camp where he is imprisoned and the leader of the troops is negotating for the American physician's release.

Everett Moore of Maryville was today appointed as administrator of the estate of Nancy B. Moore, who died August 3.

Coolidge to See Early Battlegrounds

Plymouth, Aug. 20: All plans were made today for the departure of President Coolidge from his father's home here to Swampscott. This afternoon the chief executive and Mrs .Coolidge will leave Plymouth by motor with the expectation of remaining over night at Northhampton to visit Mrs. Coolidge's mother, Mrs. Elmira Goodhue.

The President is looking forward to the overnight stay with more than unusual interest. It was there that he made his political start that carried him to the White House. It was there that he first hung out his law shingle. It was there that he met ihs wife, there that his children were born. It was from Northhampton following his service as mayor that he went to the state legislature, then the governorship and finally into national politics.

LAWSON TRULY AN AMERICAN

COOLIDGE ISSUES STATEMENT ON CHICAGO NEWSPAPER MAN.

EDITOR CHICAGO NEWS

Head of Great Mid-Western Paper Rises From Humble Beginning to Place of Great Leadership.

Plymouth, Aug. 20: President Coolidge today issued the following statement when he heard of the death of Victor Lawson, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, and veteran mid-western journalism:

"For a long time I have known Victor Lawson and of his good work. He rose from humble beginnings to a place of great leadership and influence. He represented what our country extends to all of its inhabitants in the way of opportunity.

"I can think of no better way to describe him than as a friend, a journalist and a statesman and to say that he was a prominent example of a patriotic American."

Chicago, Aug. 20.—Victor F. Lawson, editor and publisher of the Ccicago Daily News, died at his home here last night, after an illness of two days.

Mr. Lawson has suffered heart attacks in recent years from overwork, and an attack of myocarditis with acute dilation, which came Tuesday, proved fatal at 10 o'clock last night.

A niece, Mrs. Clark N. Tavenee of Chicago, summoned when it was evident his health had become grave, was at his bedside.

Mr. Lawson would have been 75 years old next month. Earlier in the year, and two or three times in the last decade, he had suffered attacks which kept him confined for a few days, but after brief rests he resumed his vigorous activities, refusing to turn over the burden of direction of the Daily News to his staff.

Up to within a few hours before his death Mr. Lawson was sustained by the same indomitable spirit that kept him at his desk for years when not in good health.

Three days ago he suffered a heart attack similiar to those that had troubled him for many years. Yesterday, despite his physician's orders to remain in bed, he insisted on sitting up for some time. Early today he suffered a relapse.

Besides the niece who was at his side when he died, Mr. Lawson is survived by a brother, Iver Lawson of San Diego, Cal., and a brother-in-law, William Harrison Bradley, and two nieces, all of Ridgefield, Conn.

British Navy Program Costly

London, Aug. 20: Semi-official statements just published relative to the cost of building modern warships show that tne British taxpayer must pay a larger bill than he anticipated for the new naval program just embarked upon the government.

The figures show that in all probability the warships projected and now building will cost $395,250,000 without a number of other necessaries. This exceeds the first estimate by $54,250,000.

Mrs. R. W. Richards, who has been visiting friends and relatives at Humboldt and other points in Nebraska, has returned to her home in Maryville.

DEATH TOLL REACHES 40

IN MACKINAC EXCURSION STEAMER EXPLOSION

12 MORE NEAR DEATH

Many Scalded Victims Suffer Intense Agony in Hospitals—Patched Boiler Responsible.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 20—Despite the unceasing viligence of weary and worn doctors, death again slipped into the casualty wards of both Newport and the Naval hospitals here today and raised the death toll of the Mackinac excursion steamer to the two score mark. The death list is now forty with a dozen more fatalities seeming certain before the day is over, as a result of the boiler explosion which scalded and injured more than a hundred persons.

The death list grows hourly. Every attendant at the naval hospital, where most of the victims were taken, was on duty and worked ceaselessly. As many of the patients as could be removed were taken to the Newport hospital, where twenty-five volunteer nurses, many of whom saw service overseas, ministered to their needs in wards that were filled with flowers brought from the gardens of Newport's society leaders.

Hoover Asked to Act

The disaster, the worst in Rhode Island waters since the steamer Larchmont went down with between 125 and 175 on board in February, 1907, was the direct result of the defective boiler, Oscar A. Heltzen, assistant attorney general, said last night. It was a coincidence that George McVay, captain of the Mackinac, also was captain of the Larchmont, which sank after being rammed by a schooner during a blinding storm.

The Rhode Island attorney general's department will continue its investigation to determine whether there is criminal culpability in the disaster to the Mackinac. Federal steamship inspectors and Newport police also started independent investigations today. United States Sen. Jesse H. Metcalf asked Secretary of Commerce Hoover to start an immediate inquiry.

"Patches on Boiler"

"When the state investigators inspected the Mackinac's exploded boiler they found it was an old one deteriorated by war and thinned down in certain places," said Mr. Heltzen. "What occurred at the time of the explosion was a rupture of the plate in the cross drum extending from the right hand side from the firebox to the center of the boiler alongside of the longitudinal seam.

"The longitudinal seam was very thin and the opening was six or seven inches wide, extending upward to the rear of the drum. It appeared that from time to time the boiler had been subjected to extensive repairs by the addition of new bolts and patches.

"The repairs may be evidence that the boiler was in a weakened condition. It has been intimated to the attorney general's department that an inspector should have determined this condition by the use of hydrostatic or hammer test."

France's Ability to Pay Considered

Washington, Aug. 20. —The inability of France and Italy to pay will be the dominating factor in the forthcoming negotiations for the funding of the war and post-war debts these countries owe the United States, it was officially announced at the Treasury Department today.

Although the Belgian settlement agreed upon last week, involving special consideration which will not be included in the negotiations with France next month, a sympathy with the present financial conditions will be the keynote of the American position, it was declared.

Miss Graham Returns.

Miss Edith Graham returned yesterday noon from a month's visit at points in Colorado and Kansas.

THE ONLY DAILY PAPER IN NODAWAY COUNTY

Nothing would so improve the appearance of Maryville at so little cost as a city-wide campaign of tree trimming. At present the view of many of our attractive appearing streets is marred by the fact that the limbs of the trees hang down so low as to make it difficult, if not impossible, for a person of average height to walk on the sidewalks carrying an umbrella. The fact that in many places the view is more or less obstructed on corners adds to the hazard of driving autos, and also makes the streets unnecessarily dark at night for pedestrians.

If every property owner would see to it that all of his trees were trimmed to the proper distance from the ground, the impression strangers would get of our city would be one of a neat, clean, well-paved, progressive city, instead, as is the case at present, of the impression of a frouzy looking individual badly in need of a shave.

Many cities find it profitable to employ a city landscape gardener, whose duty it is to direct the judicious trimming of trees and see that it is done regularly and in season. A well-trimmed tree is a thing of joy and beauty forever and adds hundreds of dollars to the attractive appearance of the home it is near.

With splendid public buildings, good streets, and many fine homes, Maryville needs only to attend to its trees to be in a class by itself as to its appearance.

THE ART OF SILENCE.

In the world's literature a place of no mean distinction must be assigned to the more personal and intimate communications which in ordinary life we call "letters." Many a writer has revealed himself in his letters in a way which throws much light on his more impersonal contributions to literature. In other walks of life great personalities have become better known for these epistolary intimacies.

But there are letters to which neither the historian nor the literary critic has done justice—the letters that were never written. Acres of library shelves could be filled with these unpenned messages. Who among us is so inarticulate or so unresponsive that he has not had in his head a dozen or more of these missives which never saw the light of day? Who has not meditated eloquently in anticipation of writing a letter of condolence—a soothing message that was never expressed?

Who has not burned passionately over an injustice to himself or someone else, and in his mind constructed a letter that would make "the stones of Rome to rise and mutiny;" and who has not found when a few days afterward this incident came again to mind, that this eloquence had never found expression on paper, and that the fires of passion had just naturally gone out as other fires do in time?

Perhaps in that inscrutable way which memory has we are reminded one day of a dear but now far-off friend. Instantly comes the resolve that we must write him; in a reminiscent way we shall go over some of the gay times we had long years ago; we shall let him know that more than ever we value his friendship. We know exactly what we are going to say; we know what will make Bill feel good. But Bill never gets the letter. This one, too, goes to make up the untold millions of unwritten letters.

What wonderful letters are those that were never written!

SELF VALUATION.

Without ostentation man should value himself more highly than is his wont. It is one of man's faults that he undervalues himself, lacks confidence in his ability and admits to himself that he "can't." It is possible to know thyself, and for man to achieve something worthwhile in this world he must believe in himself for his full worth.

"Swell-headedness" is applied to persons who affect qualities unpossessed. One can be self confident without being complacent and presuming. Man may know himself without letting others know he knows himself, that in truth, is the secret of success among men.

The higher a man's valuation of himself, the more his compassion and charity for his fellowmen. There is no condescension in his manner because realizing a value in himself he unconsciously seeks out values in others.

One cannot expect the world to count him as of intrinsic worth if he himself does not recognize that worth. The valuation which we put upon ourselves cannot be concealed from the world. It becomes so much a part of our thought structure and our very personality that it plainly manifests itself in our words and acts. Unostentatious self-confidence is natural expression of personal evaluation. Vain boasting is a cloak to conceal natural weakness and failings. He who brags is painful aware of his shortcomings; otherwise he would be conscious of nothing to boast about.

Self-condence is the recognition of shortcomings overcome. Boasting is the recognition of shortcomings to be overcome.

Dear, kind, indulgent or indifferent parent. Did you ever stop to think of the difference between the home-raised girl and the one who just grows wild, and the usual difference in their finish?

Harding had started them.

On his own election to the presidency, however, it generally was taken for granted he'd want advisors chosen by himself. Then Bascom Slemp retired in Everett Sanders' favor, as presidential private secretary, and it was assumed the shakeup had begun.

Yet a glance down the list of cabinet members shows thus far not a single change the president could have avoided making. He didn't want to retire Attorney General Daugherty or Secretary of the Navy Denby. Their resignations were forced on him as much as they were forced on the two officials themselves, by pressure of public opinion.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace died. Secretary of State Hughes quit, much against the chief executive's wishes, to make some money practicing law. The other six department heads are the ones President Harding picked originally.

Secretary Mellon, for one, is absolute boss of the treasury. He asks nobody's advice. He dictates and his dictation is gratefully received. President Coolidge's utterances on money matters are much admired in financial circles. Mellon's their author, so gossips say.

Nobody tells Secretary Hoover anything about the commerce department. He tells others. For instance, in the midst of all that talk about the president's "firm policy" in the row between the coal operators and miners, this bit of information leaked out—in reality the president had no such thing as a "coal policy"—he didn't know what he'd do in the event of a strike—he'd do whatever Hoover told him to do. "More business in government and less government in business" is of Hooveresque origin, too.

Hobbies of the Great and Near Great in American National Life

SENATOR THOMAS J. WALSH.

The amazing tenacity which enabled Senator Thomas J. Walsh (D., of Mont.) to strip the mask of secrecy from the Teapot Dome scandal really constitutes his principal hobby.

The Senator is noted in his private life for applying just as intense mental and physical effort to his play as to his work. Tremendous concentration characterizes his every activity, whether on the golf course, a fishing trip, in his reading of literature or on long recreational walks. His bulldog persistence, even in the face of great obstacles, is really his hobby.

Like the "Old Guard" of Napoleon's rule or even that of Boise Penrose's day, he may die or meet defeat, but he never surrenders. He gives all of his mental resources and physical energies to the immediate task at hand, and if he loses he goes down fighting even harder at the end. And that characteristic was never more forcibly demonstrated than at the oil investigation, when, in the face of futile and disappointing testimony, he persisted until the truth was revealed.

For recreation, Walsh has adopted golf as one of his hobbies. The other is fishing.

Conservative Golfer.

On the golf course, the Senator plays a short, swift, sure game. His drives race straight off the tee and right down the fairway. They may not gain any great distance, but they never place him in difficulty. And he is an exceptional putter, having frequently holed out from distances ranging from fifteen to twenty-two feet.

Of his game, one of his friends recently said:

"The Senator plays golf like he practices law. He hits the ball and tries to catch up to it before it stops rolling. Then, before his partners are off the tee, he's swatting his second shot. And, bang! he's holed out a twenty-foot putt, while I'm still digging out in the rough."

Walsh has but one rule for golf. It is silence. On the golf course, "silence is golden," says the Senator.

At fishing, Walsh uses the same deep concentration. Watching him cast and play for a mountain lake bass or brook trout, one feels the Senator is virtually "thinking" the fish onto his hook. He fishes with the same intensity he displays in a lawsuit. There is no "fooling" with Fisherman Walsh.

Likes Legal Riddles.

Walsh also loves to read, and when he has a book in hand, it is "lese majesty" to interrupt him. He has another fad of seeking disputed technical questions of the law simply to run down their solutions in the statute books. He really likes "legal riddles" with all the relish usually given to "cross word" puzzles. He also is fond of biographies and histories, and he maintains his own private library filled with accounts of the lives of great men and nations.

The Senator's secret weakness is the fact that he lives on a diet. For lunch he never varies from milk and graham crackers, with, sometimes, poached eggs or a dish of apple-sauce as a "filler." He also eats a very light breakfast and carefully selects his menu for dinners.

Baseball games, theaters, movies, the opera and an occasional dip into society complete the Senator's fancies. He loves movies of the old West.

The Senator's keen wit and brilliant repartee make him a much sought-after guest for the capital's social affairs. He also dances, and this makes him popular socially, when one considers the "heaviness afoot" of most of his Senatorial colleagues.

Tomorrow—Senator William H. King.

8000 Mile Auto Trip.

(Hopkins Journal)

Bob Snodgrass and wife, of Weslaco, Texas, are here for an extended visit, coming in their Buick Six, but they did not come direct, being in fifteen states and three different countries enroute, the countries besides the United States being Mexico and British Columbia, going as far north as VanCouver, the trip in all being something over 8000 miles. Bob went to Texas five years ago and all there was of his now home town was a sign bearing the inscription in big letters, "WESLACO." The town now has a population of 3,500 and still growing, being located in the southwestern part of state.

Indiana Governor Fails to Meet Dr. James at Capital City Limits

Waterloo, Ohio,
August 17, '25.

Editor Democrat-Forum and Tribune:

Of course you are not expecting a letter from me. As far as I know you have not been guilty of compelling me to write to you, yet because I do like you, I am going to burden you and if it should by any chance not please you, well, you know where the waste basket is, because it might be a waste of time to read it.

We arrived after traveling 1,003 miles, without a blowout or puncture. No unnecessary cuss words passed, some back seat driving thrown in. We saw some beautiful country and splendid crop prospects.

We camped at Vevay Park, Indiana, and camped. Well it rained, and rained, then rained some more. It was a wild night and we Maryvillians, were working over-time with our consciences, wondering why it came our way. Well the next morning we broke camp and went to Indianapolis. We were somewhat surprised that the Governor did not meet us at the city limits with a brass band. He did not. I do not think much of him. He ought not to slight Maryvillian's, if he does other people. So we wandered around his village some, doing as we pleased and did not leave our calling card at his mansion house. Indiana has a 3 cent tax on gasoline, so we filled our tank just before we entered Indiana, and bought gas but once while in the state. When we arrived in Ohio, their we commenced to see land like our beloved Ozark hills in Missouri. The roads most all the way were very good. We came to a place called Cadimus and we do not care to see it again. The road from there to Waterloo, came very near being a waterloo for us. I do not believe a saint or even a newspaper Editor could drive the car without thinking many things about roads, that are better not thought. We did finally make about four or five miles an hour. However, we arrived on Friday night at 8:00 o'clock.

We found our folks and they were glad to see us. We are enjoying ourselves, and we will leave here on Wednesday morning for West Virginia. We expect to camp all the way back home, and will arrive we think about September 1st.

Now we have worried you long enough so will now say good by.

As ever,
Chas. C. James.

TWICE IN THIS WOMAN'S LIFE

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her from Sickness to Health

Ellensburg, Washington. — "When I was first coming into womanhood I suffered terribly every month. My mother did everything she could think of, so she took me to several doctors and they only helped me a little. Mother was talking to another lady about my condition and she told mother of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mother got me six bottles and at the end of the first month I was much better, so I kept on taking it until I had no more pains. When I got married and had my first child I was in terrible pain so that it was impossible for me to do my housework. I thought of how the Vegetable Compound had been of so much benefit to me when I was a girl, so I went to Perier's Drug Store and got six bottles. It sure did help me and I still take it. I am a well woman today and I can't say too much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I will answer any letter that comes to me to answer about what your medicine has done for me." — Mrs. WILLIAM CARVER, R. F. D. No. 2, Ellensburg, Washington.

Age Is 31—But She Wears a Size 6 Baby's Shoe

"I wish to buy a pair of shoes," said dainty little Miss, as she walked into one of the shoe stores here this morning. But on second glimpse of her she was not quite so young and inexperienced as the clerk thought.

For she was with the circus troupe and questions revealed that she was 31 years of age. Yes, but, my, what tiny shoes this woman of 31 years wore—only a size 6 baby shoe, and her feet were not a bit out of proportion to her body. And the clerk said she had what some might term "a baby face" all filled with wrinkles.

Hard Roads Evoke a Community Spirit

Harrisburg, Ill., Aug. 19. (United Press)—Hard roads evoke community friendliness and a "get together" spirit not before manifest in this region.

This was apparent today as Eldorado and Harrisburg prepared to celebrate the opening of the new state Highway No. 1, which connects with two cities. A monster celebration is planned in both cities.

The celebration was started here. Approximately 1,000 business men gathered here, listened to talks, heard two bands blaring away and in general celebrated.

Following the celebration here the 1,000 packed into motor cars and started the cross trip jaunt to Eldorado for a similiar celebration there. The two bands accompanied the procession, playing along the route.

This is the first of the dual celebrations over construction of new hard roads through this section of Southern Illinois. The next celebration will be when the road is completed that will connect Harrisburg and Carrier Mills.

The road probably will be completed within a week and in about three weeks a celebration is planned between the two cities celebrating its completion.

Other roads over this district are rapidly being constructed.

A short strip remains to be completed now on the State Road Number 1 between Chicago and Metropolis. The only strip uncompleted is between Eldorado and Norris City and this probably will be finished within the next two weeks.

Papoose Is Born to Squaw with the Robbins Circus

Celebrating the arrival to an addition to their tribe, fifty or more Sioux Indians with the Robbins Brothers circus held a continuous pow-wow last night and this morning on the two sections of the circus train that kept the other members of the circus troupe awake, until the detraining at Maryville late this morning.

The birth of a successor to Chief Walking Eagle, which was forecast a week ago to take place in Atchinson, Kan., yesterday, occurred at 1:55 o'clock there yesterday afternoon at the Atchinson Hospital. True to their traditions the Indian bucks and their squaws, held their pow wow and feasted on dog meat, but it had to be when the circus was breaking up in the rain at Atchinson and on the train into Maryville; in order to greet the papoose chief.

The little Red Man weighs ten pounds and will be named Prince Atchinson, after the town in which he was born. His parents are Chief Walking Eagle and Mrs. Lizzie Walking Eagle from the Rosebud Reservation, near Valentine, Neb.

The mother was taken from the circus train yesterday morning and rushed to the hospital in an ambulance. Chief Walking Eagle went to the circus grounds to help with the work of putting up the tents and then went to the hospital to await the birth of his son.

The band of squaws with the circus brewed their medicine, consulted their oracles and charms at Clay Center last week and made the announcement that the papoose would be born yesterday.

After the big show tonight the equipment will be stored away on the nineteen long circus cars and pulled out of here on the Burlington back to St. Joseph and up to Albany where the circus shows tomorrow.

Hopkins to Have Three Days Picnic

(Hopkins Journal)

Mayor C. W. Kirk and Fred Gray canvassed the business district this morning to see what the business men think of holding a picnic here the coming month and found all of them in favor of the project, so committees will be at once named and plans made for the festivities.

It is hoped to have the Ferris wheel and Merry-go-Round that were here a few days ago and proved a great delight to the younger as well as a lot of the older people. There will be good music and amusements of various kinds.

While it has not been definitely settled, it is thought it will be a three days affair and it is hoped to exhibit stock and some farm products along with the amusement features.

The time will likely be about the middle of September.

Contests and Matches of Various Kinds at Omaha for Legion Meet

Omaha, Aug. 20.—When 100,000 American Legionnaires come to Omaha this fall for the American Legion National convention, there will be contests and matches in which thousands will participate and in which practically every Legionnaire will be interested in some way or other.

One of the contests will be the rifle matches, of which there will be two. One of these is for the Milton J. Foreman trophy, presented by Past National Commander Milton J. Foreman, through the department of Illinois, to the department winning the annual Inter Department rifle match. In addition there will be individual rifle matches to the winners of which will be given gold and silver medals.

The Hanford MacNider Trophy, presented by Past National Commander, Hanford MacNider, through the Iowa Department, will be awarded to that Department attaining the highest percentage of membership over its preceding year's membership.

The 100 per cent membership honor silver plates to every Department attaining 100 per cent or over of its preceding year's membership.

The Franklin D'Olier Trophy, presented by Past National Commander Franklin D'Olier, through the Department of Pennsylvania, goes to that Department attaining the highest percentage of eligible ex-service men in said Department.

The Franklin W. Galbraith Trophy, presented by Hanford MacNider through the Department of Ohio, which has heretofore been awarded on athletic points, will this year be given to the Department having in the convention parade the greatest aggregate mileage to the convention city.

The Henry D. Lindsley Trophy, presented by Past National Commander Henry D. Lindsley, goes to the Department attaining the highest percentage of membership over its preceding year's membership by March 1.

The North Carolina Trophy, presented by the Department of North Carolina, goes to the Department not included among the several state Departments attaining the highest percentage of membership over its preceding year's membership.

The band contest, in which 250 or more bands are expected to compete, is expected to be one of the biggest sporting events of the convention. Prizes for bands will aggregate $1,750 cash.

In the drum and bugle corps contest, something like 750 organizations are expected to compete. The prizes will be $1,250 cash.

Auxiliary drill teams and the male quartette contests already have more entries than participated in the 1924 contests.

Trap shooting and pistol matches are the other contests which will be held.

All shooting contests will be held on the United States army rifle range near Omaha. Application for blanks and information are coming in rapidly, the committee on contests announces.

Cinderella Story Comes True To 2 Texas Orphans

ABOVE ARE ESSIE LEE WITH JESSIE BARTON, PLAYING WITH TWO DOLLS AND A LONG TEXAS SHOTGUN. GRANDMA SIMPSON, WHO HAS CARED FOR THEM IS AT THEIR RIGHT. BELOW IS THE TINY SHACK, WHICH IS THEIR PRESENT HOME.

Wellington, Tex., Aug. 19—Amid the squalor of a tiny shack on the broad plains of the Texas Panhandle, an old white haired grandmother once told two little orphan girls the childhood story of Cinderella.

With poverty on all sides, the little girls, Essie Lee Barton, 6, and Jessie Barton, 4, never dreamed that some day they would suddenly have wealth and all that it buys thrust upon them, almost in the fairylike fashion of Cinderella.

But a wealthy uncle back in North Carolina is making the Cinderella story come true for them.

He is Buck Duke, son of Washington Duke, who made millions in tobacco. Une Duke is a brother of J. B. Duke, who recently gave $40,000,000 to a North Carolina college, and is said to be as wealthy as his brother.

Recently Buck said he intended to make all his relatives rich before his death. And he has just found that the two poor little orphan girls out on the Texas plains are distantly related to him by marriage.

So he has sent $1000 to Grandma Simpson, who cares for the children, to gather information about them and to end their poverty.

More money is promised later.

Already Duke has sent $10,000 each to R. W. and James Duke, two second cousins, who have ranches near here.

One grandmother of the orphans who died at Wellington several years ago, Mrs. Sally Barton, was related to Washington Duke by marriage and used to help him pick tobacco on his North Carolina plantation before he amassed his huge fortune.

When the great emigration to the west began, the Barton family and one branch of the Duke family resolved to seek their fortunes in Texas.

But while the Duke family was making millions in North Carolina, their relatives out west were having a long hard struggle for existence. Misfortune seemed to pile on misfortune, and a few years ago the two little Barton girls were left orphans.

Buck Duke has suggested that the girls be put in one of his orphan homes in North Carolina, but Grandma Simpson immediately wrote she wouldn't stand for that.

"I'll raise them here in poverty and give them a schooling myself before I'll send them to a home," she says.

Grandma Simpson is not the children's "grandma" but they always call her that because she has cared for them since babyhood.

Chicago Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—Final figures registered losses in grain prices on the Chicago Board of Trade today.

Weakness in wheat came late. It set in following numerous price swings. Aggressive buying at the start was stimulated by fresh complaints from northernmost sections of Canadian midday. In the following wave of profspring belt. The gains held up to it-making, prices reacted sharply, stopping fractionally below last night's close. Bulls continued to control the market.

Corn was off sharply on favorable weather and crop advices. Commission houses selling put more grain into the pit than could be absorbed by existing bids.

Oats were inclined to lagg but took a fractional cut in sympathy with other grains.

Provisions remained firm.

Call Out Fire Dept. to Subdue Wobblies

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 20. (U. P.)—Thirty-five wobblies are "wet down" for the day.

Early Tuesday the I. W. W.'s lodged in the Case County jail attempted to break for freedom, smashing doors and wrecking cells. Freedom was within reach.

Unable to cope with the prisoners single handed Sheriff John Ross issued an S. O. S. call to the local fire department.

Eight-inch streams of water were played on the rioting prisoners until they retreated to their cells.

Since that time—and probably remembering the dousing handed them—the prisoners have remained quietly inside their jail.

'Play Original Hunches and You'll Always Win'

Advice Given by Seers at Hotel Astor Is To Educate Citizens In Spirit Craft.

By JULIAN SNYDER

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Aug. 20.—Blase New York is being treated to a campaign in spirit craft.

The campaign got under way with a boisterous premiere in the Rose room of the hotel Astor at which reporters shouted at the mediums and charged their dressing rooms for exclusive seances and exhibitions.

To doubting Thomases were answered these important questions:

1. How to be successful in love, politics or business.

2. How Gerald Chapman or the diamond brothers may avenge themselves upon society after death.

3. How spirits spend their leisure time in the heavens above.

This advice was given:

"Play your original hunches and you'll always win. These so-called hunches are messages from spirits who are trying to help you."

The seers being presented this week at the Astor hotel have come far and wide at the request of Dr. Hereward Carrington, Ph. D., member of various psychical societies and leader of the present campaign.

His object, he told the United Press, is to educate citizens in spirit craft and eliminate the fakers from the brotherhood. He said the public must be the judge. The whole undertaking is being financed by "two millionaires" he said, but declined to name them.

For the nominal fee of $1.65 for adults (children and reporters free) the public may see and judge.

The premiere was boisterously shocking, considering the number of alleged departed souls that were dragged from the great beyond for the edification of a critical first night crowd. There were "eh's" and "ah's" and rounds of applause when a medium shouted "that stout lady in the third row" that "17 years ago Harry passed into the great beyond. Am I right?" and the lady nodded. While this was going on came raucous cries from reporters of "try that on me," or "overhere," and "hey, do that again."

Between the spiritual acts the newspaper men invaded the dressing room of the performers and dragged them into dark corners for exclusive seances and exhibitions.

The mediums perspired grimly through it all with good grace.

A number of interesting things were heard and seen in these back stage exhibitions.

Khaldah, the Egyptian telepathist, actually guessed right several figures the United Press correspondent had secretely written on some copy paper.

Dr. Conrad N. Hauser, the psychic scientist, in an interview obtained after much pulling and pushing solemnly warned society not to put Gerald Chapman to death.

Better Shoes for Less Money

SAME FINE STUDEBAKERS

Prices Reduced—Quality Maintained

THESE low prices are not for new cars built to sell at new prices.

They are for Studebaker cars identical with those which have been in tremendous demand at higher prices during the past eleven months.

They are for Studebaker cars so well built of such high quality materials that net profits during the past six months have averaged only $140.64 per car. The rest of the money the public paid us went into making a car with scores of thousands of miles of excess transportation.

These earnings are a triumph for the one-profit basis of manufacture. No manufacturer on a less efficient basis could have made a dollar selling cars of Studebaker quality at Studebaker prices.

Studebaker is the only one-profit car in the fine car field. Only Ford and Studebaker make for all their cars all bodies, all engines, all gear sets, clutches, springs, differentials, axles, steering gears, gray iron castings and drop forgings.

Thus we save and pass on to purchasers profits which many other manufacturers must pay to outside parts and body makers.

No "yearly models" makes sales jump

Thus we were able last January to reduce prices already low.

Then we announced that Studebaker would have no more "yearly models" to artificially depreciate cars in the hands of owners.

Sales instantly started to soar and have forced the vast Studebaker plants to maintain peak production throughout the summer, in the face of declining production for the industry in general.

To one-profit savings we thus add savings due to long continued peak production. These savings we share with customers in the price reduction announced August 1st.

We still use genuine leather, mohair upholstery, fine northern white ash and hard maple, tough extra gauge steel for which we pay premiums, plate glass, walnut inlaid with holly and other refinements. In short, these are the same fine cars in every particular—only the price has been reduced.

You can't appreciate what a bargain Studebaker cars are at these new prices until you compare them point by point with others.

Remember that Studebaker cars have been kept constantly up to date. Improvements have been made as soon as developed—not saved up for spectacular announcements under the guise of "new yearly models" designed to depreciate cars already in the hands of owners.

Superiorities—both hidden and obvious

Many of the most important superiorities of Studebakers are hidden until revealed by thousands of miles of usage, but here are some you can check to prove our statement that every Studebaker is more up to date than the newest "yearly model."

On all present Studebaker models, you'll find an automatic spark control, safety lighting control on the steering wheel, 8-day clock and gasoline gauge on the dash, improved one-piece windshield, special coincidental lock of ignition and steering gear, fully machined crankshaft, cowl ventilator, waterproof ignition and oil drain valve beside the engine.

Studebaker pioneered the steel-framed Duplex Top with roller side enclosures which gives enclosed car protection to open car models—in 30 seconds.

Studebaker pioneered the use of full-size balloon tires, for which steering mechanism, fenders and body lines have been especially designed.

Come in and see these sturdy, dependable "one-profit" cars. Today, more than ever before, every Studebaker is a big money's worth.
